

Patient Participation Groups (PPG)

A great opportunity to become involved in local health issues, which affect you.

Support us with ideas and suggestions to help us provide the health care you need.

All patients who would be willing to take part in virtual and/or face to face group meetings to enable us to achieve our aim we feel our patients need the opportunity to “have a voice and join us”.

What does a Patient Participation Group do?

We believe that the Patient Participation Group is invaluable in acting as a main interface between patients and the practice, working proactively to improve services. It can:

- Improve communications between practice and patients, to promote a clearer understanding from both sides.
- Be a forum to feedback to the practice suggestions for improvement to the services provided to the patients, to the organisation and to building and surrounds.
- Work with the practice to set up a volunteer network, fundraising events and self-help groups.
